ABOUT ME

I'm a passionate Game Developer and 3D Designer with a strong creative vision and a technical mindset. With experience in both 2D and 3D game development, I enjoy bringing interactive worlds to life—whether it's building gameplay mechanics in Unity or designing low-poly environments in Blender. I have over a year of hands-on experience using Unreal Engine, where I've worked on gameplay integration and level design. Currently working at Apps Genii, I strive to deliver engaging, optimized game experiences that are both fun and visually appealing. I'm always eager to learn, experiment, and grow in the world of game development.
